The Directors of ICPC Ltd have agreed to routinely implement the Executive Committee's decisions, subject only to the compatibility of their decisions with the legal obligations of a limited company that is registered in England. In the event of a disagreement between the Directors of ICPC Ltd and the Executive Committee in this respect, the decision by majority vote of the Directors of ICPC Ltd will be final.

6.3. Appointment of Associate Member Executive Committee Representative to The ICPC's Executive Committee

ANNEX 1 - TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

1. COMPOSITION

The Executive Committee (“EC”) will consist of a minimum number of 12 persons and a maximum number of 16 persons (excluding the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, the Associate Member EC Representative and Plenary Host).

The elected Chairman, vice-Chairman and the appointed General Manager of The ICPC will also undertake these roles within the EC. The Plenary Host Member shall be temporarily seconded to be an EC Member from the time of their appointment as Plenary Host until the minutes for the Plenary meeting concerned have been agreed by the EC for distribution. If the Plenary is hosted by more than one Member, the co-hosting parties shall appoint one of their number to serve as the Plenary Host Member on the EC.

2. TERM OF OFFICE

The Term of Office for EC Members and the Associate Member EC Representative will be one Term of Office starting at the Plenary meeting at which they were elected and ending upon completion of the third Plenary meeting following their election.

3. QUALIFICATION REQUIREMENTS FOR EC MEMBERS

Only Full Members of The ICPC who are represented by a permanent employee can be elected to serve as EC Members. Associated organisations (i.e., organisations that are corporate affiliates or are otherwise subject to common ownership or control of any type) are not permitted to field more than one candidate for election to any position on the EC. Their single candidate organisation, if elected, will hold the position on behalf of their sponsoring organisation only, and not on behalf of the associated organisations as a group.

EC membership will be limited to Full Members.

Although all EC Members must be prepared to have their representatives serve as directors of ICPC Ltd. if asked, it would not be necessary for representatives of incoming EC Members to become directors of ICPC Ltd. if the number of existing directors equals or exceeds five. Recognising that EC Members serve without compensation, they and their representatives are expected to contribute to the work in fulfilment of the objectives of the ICPC including, for example, participation in working groups, revising recommendations, occasional external representation and other activities in support of the ICPC.

3.1. Appointment of Primary Representatives

To facilitate communication and continuity of decision making within the EC, an EC Member or Associate Member EC Representative will upon election or re-election notify the General Manager within 10 calendar days of name and contact details of the individual who will serve, or continue to serve, as the primary representative of that EC Member or Associate Member EC Representative. Multiple primary representatives are not permitted for a single EC Member or Associate Member EC Representative. An EC Member or Associate Member EC Representative will also notify the General Manager within 10 calendar days of a change in its primary representative.

3.2. Attendance at EC Meetings

For an EC Member's initial elected term, an individual designated as its primary representative must attend in person all EC meetings during that initial elected term to be eligible to stand for re-election for a second term. For each subsequent consecutive elected term following the initial elected term, an EC Member's designated primary representative must attend in person at least two-thirds of EC meetings. If an EC Member's designated primary representative fails (a) to attend in person two consecutive EC meetings, or (b) fails to attend at least two thirds of all EC meetings during a particular term following the initial term, that EC Member will be ineligible to seek re-election to the EC or to have any of its representatives seek the position of Chair or Vice Chair. An EC Member that becomes ineligible for re-election may seek election for a subsequent term (following a term of ineligibility) subject to the attendance requirements set forth herein. If elected, the relevant term would be deemed that EC Member's initial elected term. Recognizing that there may be extenuating circumstances, these EC meeting attendance and eligibility requirements remain subject to the discretion of the EC, which may vote by a simple majority (excluding the EC Member in question) to waive any of these requirements. Subject to the stated election and attendance requirements, there is no limit to the number of terms an EC Member organisation may serve.

4. EC MEMBER ELECTION PROCESS

Full Members of The ICPC who wish to serve on the EC may submit an election statement for consideration by the membership before the election takes place. The election statement provides an opportunity for the volunteering Member to demonstrate how its election to the EC will benefit The ICPC.

The election process shall be organised by the General Manager and Chairman and conducted by secret ballot. The result shall be announced before the Plenary meeting is concluded.

In the event that 16 or fewer Members volunteer for service on the EC (excluding the Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Plenary Host) the election shall be deemed to have taken place and all volunteers accepted.

5. ASSOCIATE MEMBER EC REPRESENTATIVE ELECTION PROCESS

Associate Members of The ICPC who wish to serve as Associate Member EC Representative may submit an election statement for consideration by the Associate Members before the election takes place. The election statement provides an opportunity for the volunteering Associate Member to demonstrate how its election as Associate Member EC Representative will benefit The ICPC.

The election process will be organised by the General Manager and Chairman and conducted by secret ballot of Associate Members. The result will be announced before the Plenary meeting is concluded.

6. ROLE OF THE EC

Recognising that ICPC Ltd has been established to serve the common interest of the membership of The ICPC on an exclusive basis, the Directors of ICPC Ltd will adhere to the decisions of the EC on behalf of ICPC Members.

7. PROCEDURE

7.1. Quorum

The quorum for a meeting of the EC will consist of in-person attendance of the primary representatives (or, the in the event the EC decides to recognize in-person attendance by designated alternate representatives) of not less than half of the total number of EC Members.

In the event that an EC meeting is conducted only virtually for all participants, the quorum for such an EC meeting will consist of the primary representatives of not less than half of the total number of EC Members.

7.2. Voting

Decisions that require a vote by the EC may be decided at any meeting of the EC provided that a quorum is present and two thirds or more of those EC Members present vote in favour.

Each EC Member will have only one vote regardless of the number of representatives they have in attendance at EC meetings. The Associate Member EC Representative may participate in EC deliberations but is not eligible to vote.

Where it is not possible or convenient to vote at an EC meeting, the General Manager must call for a ballot of all EC members. Decisions will be made provided that not less than two-thirds of all EC Members vote and two-thirds or more of those voting vote in favour. Votes not received by the due date will be regarded as abstentions and not included in the counting of the votes.

The ballot will be conducted via any suitable communications medium as determined by the General Manager and a period as set out in ICPC Policy No.6 (EC Decision Making Process) allowed for the votes to be collected.

7.3. Meetings

To facilitate adequate planning time for Plenary meetings of The ICPC, it is agreed that a meeting of the EC will be held during the month of October each year and hosted in accordance with a rota that is reviewed and agreed at each meeting.

Once a date has been agreed for this meeting, it may only be rescheduled in the event that a quorum cannot be maintained. In such circumstances it is the responsibility of the General Manager to reschedule the meeting to the nearest possible date where both the host and a quorum is available.

In the event that a host wishes to cancel but a quorum is still available, the meeting will proceed in the host city as planned. In this event the General Manager will arrange a suitable meeting room and conference facilities in a convenient hotel. In these exceptional circumstances the additional costs will be to the account of The ICPC.

In addition to the above arrangements, the EC will routinely meet on the day before each Plenary meeting takes place. The Chairman may request further ad hoc meetings of the EC whenever deemed necessary.
